INTRODUCTION

The Swaziland Primary Certificate (SPC) syllabuses are designed as three-year courses for examination in Grade Seven. The English Language syllabus assumes that candidates have been through a Primary school programme of language learning. Candidates of English may fall into one of the following categories – those who use the English Language frequently in their social environment, and those who only have contact with the English Language at school.

The content of this syllabus is arranged under various headings, but it should be read overall as encouraging a communicative and appropriately integrated approach to language learning and teaching. It also recognises that language learning is a complex process, usually involving the interplay of listening, speaking, reading and writing underpinned by knowledge of the structure of the language. Candidates' needs and the strategies available to teachers may vary greatly from area to area and within any class; but in all cases the English Language syllabus must encourage awareness of the usefulness of the language, making candidates appreciate its importance for their personal, social and intellectual development.

English Language is a Core and Compulsory Subject.

The rationale to teach English Language is as follows:

- English is one of the official languages in the country, the other being the language of the Swazi people, SiSwati.
- English is an international language, which allows candidates to compete and/or participate in the global market economically, commercially, technologically, politically, culturally and socially. It is also used as the main language for entertainment and sport in the world.
- English is the medium of instruction in schools in Swaziland from Grade three and most texts in Swaziland are written in English. Competence in English undoubtedly enables candidates to perform better in all other subjects: English is the service language across the curriculum.
- It provides the English language skills necessary for employment, the world of work and life in general.
- It also provides a language foundation for continuing education and tertiary education within Swaziland, SADC and internationally.

The main sections of the SPC English Language Assessment syllabus are:

- Aims
- Assessment Objectives
- Assessment
- Curriculum Content

AIMS

The aims of the syllabus are the same for all candidates. These aims are set out below and describe the educational purposes of a course in English Language for the SPC Examination. They are not listed in order of priority.

The aims are to enable candidates to:

1. develop an awareness of the usefulness of the English Language as a medium of national and international communication;
2. promote the value of effective language command and use for personal development;
3. develop an awareness of the nature of language and language-learning skills along with skills of a more general application;
4. form a sound base for the effective uses of English for the purposes of further study and employment.
5. to broaden the student's knowledge of the language through exposure to various of English in order to communicate and function adequately in situations where English is required.
6. to expose the candidate to ideas, attitudes, values, customs and beliefs of other people and nations in order to promote a better understanding of people throughout the world.

ASSESSMENT OBJECTIVES

The syllabus assesses the receptive skills of Reading and Listening, and the productive skill of Writing. The Assessment Objectives have been grouped under skill headings, but it is recognised that these are interrelated.

A description of each of the Assessment Objectives in English Language follows.

Candidates are assessed on their ability to:

Reading

- R1 comprehend and respond to literary texts presented in a variety of forms
- R2 locate, select, organise and analyse material relevant to specific purposes.
- R3 recognise, understand main ideas and distinguish between facts, opinions and ideas in a text.
- R4 infer information from texts.

Writing

- W1 communicate clearly, accurately and appropriately.
- W2 order and present facts, ideas and opinions.
- W3 understand and use a range of appropriate vocabulary.
- W4 use language and register appropriate to audience and context.
- W5 employ and control a variety of accurate grammatical structures.
- W6 observe conventions of paragraphing, punctuation and spelling.
- W7 write continuous prose for various purposes.

Listening

- L1 understand and respond to information presented in a variety of forms.
- L2 select and organise material relevant to specific purposes.
- L3 recognise, understand and distinguish between facts, ideas and opinions.
- L4 infer information from texts.

Dictionaries should not be used.

The paper is divided into Three Compulsory Exercises. The tasks for these exercises will be distinguished by requiring different purposes/formats/audiences/registers.

Part 1 Letter writing (16 marks) Assessment Objectives W1, W2, W3, W4, W5 W6 and W7

Candidates will be required to write approximately one page of continuous prose, in response to a short graphic stimulus and/or short prompts printed on the paper. A purpose, format and audience for the writing will be specified.

Part 2 Extended writing (20 marks) Assessment Objectives W1, W2, W3, W4, W5 and W6

Candidates will be required to write about 1 to 1½ pages of continuous prose. They will be required to write on one topic from a choice of four titles. Candidates may be required to write either an argumentative/discursive, expository/factual, descriptive or narrative piece which may have a visual element as a stimulus.

Part 3 Practical writing (14 marks) Assessment Objectives W1, W2, W3, W4, W5 and W6

Candidates will write notices and advertisements for a variety of subjects. Candidates may be required to present information in written form using tables, graphs, pie charts, diagrams, and bar graphs. A purpose, format and audience for the writing will be specified.

Paper 2 Listening, Reading and Writing (2 hours) consisting of 50 marks.

For all parts of this component, candidates write their answers in the spaces provided on the question paper.

Dictionaries should not be used.

Candidates write all their answers in spaces provided in the question paper.

The paper is divided into Three Compulsory Exercises. The Exercises have different total mark allocations, and some are broken down into a series of sub-questions.

Part 1 Listening (15 marks) Assessment Objective L1 to L4

A listening exercise of 200 – 300 words in which candidates will be required to listen and answer questions, based on a short text which will be read to the candidates. The text will be one of the following types: narrative, description, report, announcements, talk, lecture, letter, exposition and instructions.

Part 2 Reading and Writing (25 marks) Assessment Objectives R1, R2, R3, R4, W1, W2, W3, and W5

A reading exercise 400 – 500 words in which candidates will be required to answer a series of questions testing detailed comprehension, based on a text printed in the question paper. The text will take the form of a report/newspaper/magazine article, narrative, description, report, announcements, talk, lecture, letter, exposition and instructions which may incorporate a graphical element. Candidates will also do an exercise which tests elements of grammar.

Part 3 Dialogue (10 marks – 6 for Reading Objectives and 4 for Writing Objectives) Assessment Objectives R1, R2, L1, L2, W1, W2, W3, W4, W5 and W6

This can be a dialogue task in which candidates complete a dialogue based on information they have listened to or have read.
